

Elias C. Grivoyannis

Associate Professor of Economics

Education:

BS, Athens Economic University,
MA, Fordham University,
MPhil, New York University,
PhD, New York University,
Elias Grivoyannis CV

Biography:

Dr. Elias C. Grivoyannis joined Yeshiva University as an associate professor of economics September 1999. Previously he was financial analyst and associate manager at AT&T and forensic economics consultant. He taught at the City University of New York, the University of North Carolina, and New York University.

Teaching and Research Interests:

In the span of 35 years Dr. Grivoyannis has taught over 40 diverse undergraduate and/or graduate courses, for multiple semesters each, in the fields of: (a) Macroeconomics & Monetary Economics (6 courses), (b) Mathematical / Quantitative Analysis Methods (12 courses), (c) Financial Economics (10 courses), (d) International Economics (4 courses), (e) Labor & Demographic Economics (2 courses), (f) Economics and the Law (2 courses), (g) Health, Education & Welfare (2 courses), (h) Microeconomics/ Industrial Organization & Regulation/ Managerial Economics (11 courses), (i) Urban, Rural & Regional Economics (3 courses).

His current and past research interest is in: (1) Forensic Economics, (2) Health Economics, (3) Emerging Economies in International Trade and Finance, (4) Economics Efficiency and Justice, (5) Labor Economics, (6) Energy and Environmental Economics, (7) Economic and Business Education.

Honors and Awards:

Recommended by students for whom he “made a difference in their life,” and was selected for inclusion in the 8th edition of “Who’s Who Among America’s Teachers”, 2004. Recipient of 1998 Teaching Excellence Award by the Academy of Business Administration Doctoral Scholarship Award, New York University Undergraduate Fellowship, Continental Insurance Companies, Inc. Listed in Marquis Directories: (a) Who is Who in the World; (b) Who is Who in Finance and Industry.

Publications:

Dr. Grivoyannis has authored, coauthored, or edited eight books, thirteen chapters in reference books and twenty-four refereed papers in academic journals and proceedings.