GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

If a University student believes a disability services accommodation has been incorrectly decided, he or she has the right to seek a review of such concerns. It is recommended that the student speak first about his or her concerns with the Office of Disability Services (ODS) to discuss the situation and work toward achieving a successful resolution.

In the event that such concerns cannot be resolved directly with ODS, students may file a formal grievance. Any grievance must be filed within 30 days of when the problem occurred.

The grievance application should be completed and sent to the University Dean of Students, who serves as the chairperson of the Appeals Committee.

The Appeals Committee is comprised of representatives selected from professional offices throughout the university. The committee may contact the instructor, program managers, or other appropriate personnel to discuss the requested accommodations, as needed. The committee may also request additional documentation or an independent medical evaluation on the request for accommodation. Upon receiving the completed grievance form, the Committee will have 10 working days to arrange a time to meet with the student and a representative of the ODS to review the situation. The Committee will have an additional 10 working days to reach a decision and notify the student and the ODS representative in writing. A student may request another student or faculty or staff person to accompany him or her through the steps of the procedure.

A student who makes use of the grievance procedure shall not be retaliated against in any way for doing so. The decision by the Appeals Committee is final; no additional appeals within the University are available.
