As part of the career practical training, the Shevet Glaubach Center will be supporting the development of a formal program for YU interns within MassChallenge Israel.

Building on the excitement and success of the annual pre-Covid winter-break Rensop Israel Innovation trip, we are launching our newest initiative, a Summer Internship Experience in Israel. The summer internship program will be hosted at Yeshiva University in Jerusalem, in partnership with Israel’s largest startup accelerator, MassChallenge-Israel. This exciting new program will educate students toward a market-ready and morally mature future, while deepening YU’s relationship with Israel’s high-tech and entrepreneurial communities.

Projects could focus on marketing, competitive research and analysis, business development and partnerships, or other STEM and business functions.

This summer, the program will accept up to 14 YU students (men and women, SSSB/YC/SCW) to work with Jerusalem-based companies most of which have completed MassChallenge. The internship program will last eight weeks, from early June through early August. There will be two YU hosted Shabbatonim featuring YU Roshei Yeshiva as scholars-in-residence.

YU will provide all meals during the program as well as housing at the YU Israel Jerusalem campus. Participating students will pay for their own airfare while receiving a $1000 stipend for the summer. Students may earn academic credit through the processes designed by YU’s undergraduate schools.

Students who are accepted to the program are required to register through their school for the internship and credits. Academic credit and eligibility is determined by the school. A $350 non-refundable registration reserves a place in the program and covers credit fees.
