Community based therapists wanted! Weill Cornell Medicine Psychiatry Department is excited to expand its program to deliver mental health services to older adults in senior centers in Brooklyn and Staten Island NY. We have full time positions with benefits available now. While we are virtual at present, we anticipate being in person in the future. We are looking for experienced (at least 2 years) licensed clinicians who are passionate about mental health and interested to provide psychotherapy to diverse older adults and increase access to services in the community. Spanish or Russian language is a plus. LCSW or higher licensure is required.

For more information or to apply send your resume and cover letter to Chantal Medina at chm2072@med.cornell.edu.
