

Inquire about our virtual and in-person information sessions

We want to connect with current students and recent graduates to provide information about NYC Health + Hospitals and the various career paths that exist in our organization.

Our virtual and in-person information sessions are conducted by our HR Staff & Clinical Department Leadership Team where they share important information as well as their career experiences.

Students and graduates learn NYC H+H's values and culture, while gaining insight into various career paths. Learn about available positions and qualities NYC H+H looks for in candidates to make a personal connection within our organization.
