COURSE DESCRIPTION

The course is designed to explore the bridge between personal narratives, creativity, and the power of community. In this course students will gain an understanding of the principles and techniques of psychodrama, sociometry, and group psychotherapy. Conceived and developed by Jacob L. Moreno, psychodrama employs guided dramatic action to examine problems or issues raised by an individual or a group. Using experiential methods, sociometry, role theory, and group dynamics, psychodrama facilitates insight, personal growth, and integration on cognitive, affective, and behavioral levels. It clarifies issues, increases physical and emotional wellbeing and enhances learning and develops new skills.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

By the end of the course, the students will be able to demonstrate:

1. Their understanding of the connection between social work practice and psychodrama, sociometry, and group psychotherapy

2. Their understanding of the philosophy underlying psychodrama, sociometry, and group psychotherapy. Additionally, students will learn the historical development of this modality.

3. Their competence in articulating and applying key concepts of different psychodramatic techniques

4. Their understanding of how to integrate psychodramatic techniques with diverse populations in various settings.
5. Their understanding of integrating this method in their field work.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

This course is highly interactive and experiential, providing opportunities to experience role-play and other psychodramatic techniques. Special attention is given to the safe and ethical use of experiential methods with specific populations, including individuals with trauma histories and other vulnerable populations.

This class is experiential in nature and does call for some level of self-disclosure for the purpose of learning. Students always have the right to pass on any activity and disclose within limits of what feels comfortable.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS

This class is designed to provide an overview of psychodramatic methods in working with individuals, couples, families and groups. Toward this end, critical thinking, meaningful dialogue, and participation in in-class experiential activities are important. In order to maximize learning, full attendance is expected and unexcused absences will adversely affect your grade. If, for some compelling reason you expect to arrive late to class, please call or text the instructor.

Texts for the Course

Supplemental Texts:

Note: All required readings are on-line through electronic reserve (ERES). Your instructor will distribute the password and directions to access these readings.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

There will be two assignments for this course, a mid-term paper due class 7 and a final paper due at the end of the semester. The specific requirements of each written assignment will be distributed to you by the instructor. Late papers will result in lower grades.

Class Participation: 35%
Mid-term Assignment: 30%

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who are enrolled in this course and who will be requesting documented disability-related accommodations are asked to make an appointment with the Office of Disability Services, Rochelle Kohn, Beren Campus, (646) 592-4132, rkohn1@yu.edu, Abby Kelsen, Wilf Campus, (646)592-4280, akelsen@yu.edu, during the first week of class. After approval for accommodations is granted, please submit your accommodations letter to Disability Services Office immediately.

PLAGIARISM:

Students should remember that the School will not condone plagiarism in any form and will sanction acts of plagiarism. A student who presents someone else's work as his or her own work is stealing from the authors or persons who did the original thinking and writing. Plagiarism occurs when a student directly copies another's work without citation; when a student paraphrases major aspects of another's work without citation; and when a student combines the work of different authors into a new statement without reference to those authors. It is also plagiarism to use the ideas and/or work of another student and present them as your own. It is not plagiarism to formulate your own presentation of an idea or concept as a reaction to someone else's work; however, the work to which you are reacting should be discussed and appropriately cited. Any student who can be shown to have plagiarized any part of any assignment in this course will automatically FAIL the course and will be referred to the Associate Dean for disciplinary action, which may include expulsion.
HIPAA ALERT:

In line with the new HIPAA regulations concerning protected health information, it is important that you understand that any case information you present from your work will need to be de-identified. What this means is that any information that would allow another to identify the person needs to be changed or eliminated. This includes obvious things like names and birth dates but may also contain other information that is so unique to the person that it will allow for identification, including diagnosis, race/ethnicity, or gender. If diagnosis, race/ethnicity, gender is directly related to the case presentation it can be included if it will not allow for identification.
