

RIETS KOLLEL AND HONORS PROGRAMS

Program Descriptions

For Students in the Rabbi Joseph B. Soloveitchik Semikha Program

Marcos and Adina Katz Kollel: Under the direction of Rabbi Hershel Schachter, shlit"á, this kollel is the largest of the RIETS Kollel programs. In the main section of the kollel, talmidim study approximately 20 dapim of Gemara per semester and take regular bechinot. Alternative limmudim, in halakha and Gemara, may also be studied by the fellows. The kollel meets in the afternoon, Sunday through Thursday, and includes a night seder requirement. Students may be eligible for free housing and stipends.

Kuppermann Kollel Fellowship: Under the direction of Rabbi Hershel Schachter, shlit"á this program is open to chaverim of the main section of the Katz Kollel. Talmidim commit to attending a weekly high-level chabura delivered by Rav Schachter shlit"á, volunteer to learn for at least thirty minutes per week with a younger talmid, and publish an article in English in a volume dedicated to the memory of Mr. David Kuppermann z"l.

Bella and Harry Wexner Semikha Honors Program: The most promising semikha students, future talmidei chachamim, and community leaders are chosen through a rigorous process. They receive a sizeable fellowship to allow them to focus completely on learning. Fellows of the Semikha Honors Program study with the Marcus and Adina Katz Kollel. In addition, they take select, high-level courses in the areas of effective written and oral communication, pastoral counseling and psychology, and dispute resolution.

Caroline and Joseph S. Gruss Institute / Israel Kollel: The Institute, directed by Rabbi David Miller, shlit"á, offers year-long programs of study on Yeshiva University's Israel campus in Yerushalayim. Most of the semikha requirements may be filled while at the RIETS Israel Kollel. RIETS students are encouraged to spend one of their four years of study at the Gruss Institute so they can absorb the unique Torah of Eretz Yisrael.

Maybaum Sephardic Scholarship: This fellowship is dedicated for RIETS students of Sephardic heritage. Fellowship recipients will receive a stipend toward completion of semikha studies. On top of the general RIETS semikha requirements, Maybaum scholars are required to take coursework in Sephardic halakha and hazzanut. Above all, Maybaum fellows must exemplify leading the life of a talmid hakham within the context of their Sephardic heritage.

Rabbi Jacob Kupietzky Memorial Program for the Study of Kodshim: This special program enables promising talmidim to dedicate themselves to the study of Kodshim. Fellows receive a sizeable stipend and are expected to study together with one of the Kollelim, as well as devote one seder a day to the study of Kodshim. Fellows are also expected to attend the chaburot delivered by Rabbi David Horwitz shlit"á. On occasion, the Dean requests one of the Kupietzky fellows to prepare and deliver a lecture to all post-semikha students wherein he expounds on his learning.

For Post-Semikha Students

Bella and Harry Wexner Kollel Elyon: This post-semikha kollel, under the direction of Rabbi Mordechai Willig, shlit"á, is designed to educate an elite cadre of rabbinic leaders to meet the complex demands of today's Jewish community. The program was the first of its kind to combine intensive Torah learning and traditional rabbinic education with a curriculum drawn from a wide range of disciplines, including: effective written and oral communication skills, pastoral counseling and psychology, dispute resolution, business ethics, and leadership development. The goal of the program is that its graduates embody outstanding erudition and commitment to Torah, coupled with the practical skills to enable them to most effectively address the contemporary issues facing the Jewish community at large. (Talmidim in the Wexner Kollel Elyon study together with fellows of Machon Beren)

Israel Henry Beren Institute for Higher Talmudic Studies (HaMachon HaGavoah Le'Talmud): This post-semikha kollel is under the direction of Rabbi Michael Rosensweig, shlit"á. It is designed for exceptional students who wish to study Torah lishma, and who have the potential and desire to become the academic leaders of Jewry. It enables these most gifted talmidim, already possessing Kollel experience and semikha, to devote themselves fully to Torah study. Out of its ranks have emerged outstanding talmidei chachamim who serve in the first-rank of roshei yeshiva and yeshiva faculty, to whom the coming generation will look for guidance and direction in Jewish law and living.

Rabbi Dr. Norman Lamm Kollel L'Horaah (Yadin Yadin): This kollel, overseen by Rabbi J. David Bleich, shlit"á, Rav Mordechai Willig, shlit"á, and Rabbi Yona Reiss, shlit"á is offered to an elite group of talmidim, all of whom have received semikha and have displayed profound ability in learning, as well as a firm commitment to a future life of scholarship and service. The program consists of study of Even HaEzer and Choshen Mishpat, coupled with observation at the Beth Din of America. Kollel fellows who demonstrate their mastery of the material – by passing bechinot and delivering chaburot before their peers and the Roshei Kollel – are granted advanced semikha (Yadin Yadin), which qualifies the recipient as a dayan in monetary and matrimonial matters.
