Organization of Psychology Students
Research Awards

The Organization of Psychology Students (OPS) Research Awards program was established to assist and support Ferkauf students in their research related to research project I, research project II, or pre-doctoral dissertation. This application for a Research Award reimburses the student up to $300.

Application: To apply for an OPS Research Award, the student must submit a completed, signed application together with the documentation listed below. Application deadline for the fall semester is DECEMBER 22nd and for the spring semester is MAY 14th. Applications received after the stated deadline date will not be eligible.

A student is eligible for up to four reimbursements during the student’s graduate career at Ferkauf Graduate School of Psychology. If the student applies for a second research project reimbursement, it must NOT be related to the student’s prior accepted application for a research project reimbursement. Only completed applications will be reviewed. OPS makes no judgment as to the quality or subject matter of projects. Awards are granted based upon timely receipt of a completed application. In the event that reimbursement requests exceed available funds, awards will be determined by lottery.

Eligible Expenses: Awards will only be granted for those expenses incurred by the student which have no value which survives the research project. Examples of eligible expenses which will be approved: mailing and photocopying. Examples of ineligible expenses which will not be approved: WAIS kit or medical monitoring equipment.
